

L.F. Fales Machine Company
East and Elm Streets
Walpole, Massachusetts
Norfolk County

HAER No. MA-49

HAER
MASS,
11-WALP,
2-

PHOTOGRAPHS

WRITTEN HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE DATA

Historic American Engineering Record
National Park Service
Department of the Interior
Washington, D.C. 20240

HISTORIC AMERICAN ENGINEERING RECORD

L.F. FALES MACHINE COMPANY
HAER MA-49

HAER
MASS
11-WALP,
2-

Date: 1898, with later additions

Location: East and Elm Streets, Walpole, Massachusetts

Designed by: Unknown

Owner: L.F. Fales

Significance: The L.F. Fales Machine Company was founded in 1894, and in 1898 this one and two-story wood frame complex was begun at the corner of East and Elm Streets. The company manufactured and repaired special machinery and multiple needle sewing machines of the type used in heavy manufacturing. This type of machine was invented by L.F. Fales's father, Charles Fales.

Transmitted by: Monica E. Hawley, Historian, 1984